☞ Patronage diminished this year by scarcity of money. In other respects, the school lacks none of the elements of prosperity.

Chowan Baptist Female Institute.

History.

The Institution was founded nearly thirty years ago by the Chowan and Portsmouth Associations, for the purpose of furnishing to the Baptists and their friends a first-class school, possessing all the necessary facilities for imparting a thorough and liberal education. They accordingly erected a large and beautiful brick building, four stories high, and furnished it with an elegance and liberality, which enabled it at once to take rank with the best female schools in the country. This rank it still maintains.

A debt contracted in the original founding of the Institution, unliquidated at the close of the late war, for a time imperiled its safety, and impaired its prosperity, but a few brethren, at the instance of the Board of Trustees, generously paid the debt and assumed the temporary control of the Institution, with the pledge, on their part, to restore it to the denomination whenever the money advanced by them shall be refunded. In the mean time the school is conducted on the same principles and mainly by the same men as formerly. It is now in a very prosperous condition, and being free from all encumbrance, its continued prosperity may be reasonably anticipated.

Location.

The location is eminently appropriate, embracing a tract of twenty-eight acres adjacent to the town. It secures the important advantages of privacy and affords ample means of exercise and recreation within its own enclosure.

A fine lawn of six acres, immediately in front of the collegiate edifice, laid out in walks and ornamented with shrubbery and flowers, adds greatly to the attractiveness of the place, and affords at the same time, inducements to out-door exercise and mears for botanical pursuits.

Health.

This location was selected over several others in some respects more eligible, on account of its celebrity for health; and the history of the school for nearly thirty years fully sustains the previous reputation of the place. It has enjoyed a large and widely extended patronage, and the fact seems well established that pupils from the hill-country, coming here in October and leaving the last of June, are little, if at all, liable to chills, the only form of disease that can be considered peculiar to this climate, while those from nearer the sea-coast are generally improved in health by a residence here.

The water on the Institute premises is equal in purity and coolness to the best water of the hill-country, being obtained from a well forty-five feet deep.

Government.

The government is mild and parental. It is regarded as of primary importance that pupils be induced to act from principle rather than from fear of punishment; hence every effort is made to reclaim the erring by kindness and appeals to the reason and the conscience. No young lady will be allowed to remain long in the school, whose example tends to encourage idleness or insubordination.

Pupils from abroad are not permitted to make visits or receive them, except from relations, or friends from their own neighborhoods. Boarding pupils never leave the Institute premises, except when attended by an officer of the Institution or a near relative

No young lady is permitted to open an account with a merchant, without permission from her parent or guardian.

Costly dressing, and the useless expenditure of money, is discouraged. The clothing of young ladies must be legibly marked.

Every pupil on application for admission is examined on her previous acquirements, and is placed in such studies as the Board of Instruction deems best for her, due regard being had for the special wishes of her parent. Ornamental studies are selected by the parent alone.

When a young lady has been placed in a certain routine of study, she is not permitted to change her studies except for good and sufficient reasons.

It is very important that pupils should be entered at the beginning of the session, as classes are then formed and new studies commenced. An absence of a few weeks frequently renders it impossible for a young lady to regain her position in her class. To encourage prompt attendance, no deduction is made for loss of time, while a young lady retains her position in her class.

New pupils are received at any time, when we have room for their accommodation, and, after the first two weeks of the session, charged only from time of entering.

Sessions and Vacation.

The scholastic year is divided into two terms, thus:

Fall Term begins 1st Wednesday in October and ends 14th day of February following. Spring Term begins the 15th day of February and ends with the Annual Commencement, 4th Wednesday in June.

The vacation extends from the 4th Wednesday in June to the 1st Wednesday in October. This arrangement was adopted after due deliberation, and experience has proved it eminently judicious. The length of this vacation renders all others unnecessary, and hence only one day's suspension of business will take place at Christmas.

Lectures.

A Lecture on some literary or scientific subject is delivered to the whole school, on Friday evening of each week; and the advanced classes are critically examined on the substance of the lecture during the ensuing week. Thus a wide range is given to the course of instruction, and much important information imparted on subjects, which, for want of time, cannot be included in the course of study for the class-room. The lecture is supplemented by exercises in reading, by pupils, interspersed with instrumental and vocal music. Thus young ladies are trained to read aloud, and an important advantage is secured to the pupils of the Music Department, by accustoming them to perform in the presence of others.

These exercises are open to the public under such restrictions as are necessary to insure proper decorum.

Apparatus.

The Institution is furnished with a very complete and superior set of Philosophical, Chemical and Astronomical Apparatus for the practical illustration of the principles of those sciences.

Library, Reading-Room and Cabinet.

The Institute is furnished with a small select Library, a Cabinet of Natural and Artificial Curiosities, and a Reading-Room supplied with a suitable periodical literature.

Religious Instructions.

Regarding the proper development and direction of the moral faculties as of paramount importance in the training of youth, the founders of the Institution incorporated into its system of instruction and discipline the christian religion as a prominent and permanent feature.

All the pupils are required to attend morning and evening prayers in the chapel; also Sabbath School, and public worship at the village church on Sunday, and at night religious services in the Institute chapel.

Prayer meetings are held Saturday nights in the President's study, for the benefit of such as choose to attend. The members of the faculty testify that a large majority of the students who have remained long in the school have shown a commendable and gratifying proficiency in the knowledge of the Scriptures, and in the appreciation and application of moral truths in the social duties and responsibilities of life.

This testimony has, in many instances, been confirmed by the statements of Pastors, of whose congregations the pupils of this Institution have subsequently become members.

Department of Music.

Music, instrumental and vocal, is taught by the best teachers that can be procured. For several years past the department has been under the direction of Mrs. S. J. Myrick, a refined and cultivated lady, who has taken unusual pains, under the tuition of the best masters, to qualify herself for teaching ; and having taught many years in the Institution, she is well known to its patrons as the most popular and successful teacher ever connected with the school. Under her direction and tuition, the department has acquired unusual popularity and efficiency. Her associates are ladies also of experience and superior qualifications.

Department of Fine Arts.

This department is under the direction of a lady of experience and ability. It is justly popular, and presents superior advantages to those who wish to cultivate their taste for the Fine Arts.

Steward's Department.

In addition to the general supervision of the President, this department is served by a Steward, who gives his undivided attention to it. The table is plentifully supplied with first class provision in sufficient variety to preclude all reasonable ground of complaint.

Scheme of Studies

Eng. Literature—Hart.
Eng. Grammar and Arithmetic reviewed.
English Essays for Commencement.

The above scheme of studies is essentially the same as that pursued in other first class schools, but the arrangement is, in some important respects, different from that adopted in many others. It has been a matter of careful study with the President and his Associates to ascertain, by experiment, that arrangement of co-ordinate and consecutive studies, that will conduce most to the efficient and profitable culture both of those pupils who complete the full course and the larger number who stop short of it.

Only two classes of Diplomas are conferred; and both these for complete courses of study.

1. For a complete English and Mathematical Course; with anything that may be added less than the full course.

To secure this Diploma, at least three years of study is required, after the pupil has entered the Collegiate Department.

2. A complete English and Mathematical Course, together with the French and Latin Languages.

To obtain this Diploma, at least four years of study is required.

A young lady having attained approved proficiency in any ornamental branch of study, may receive a Certificate of Approbation from the Professor of that Department.

A young lady, who proposes to pursue only a partial course, can select such studies as she desires, provided she falls into classes pursuing the same studies.

Terms per Session of Nine Months,

Payable one-half on entrance, the other half 15th of February, or at shorter intervals, to suit the convenience of patrons, provided payments are always in advance.

Tuition in Academic Department,.....	$ 40 00
" " Collegiate " Latin and French included,.....	50 00
Board,including all necessary appurtenances,	108 00
Necessary expenses of Tuition and Board,..	$148 00 to 158 00

EXTRA AND OPTIONAL.

Music and use of Instrument,..	$ 50 00
Painting, ...	30 00
Drawing, Wax Work, Embroidery, &c., each	16 00
Vocal Music in Classes, ...	10 00

Books, Music, &c., furnished at publishers' prices.

The above charges are graduated merely to cover actual expenses, hence prompt compliance with terms is absolutely necessary. But, as many persons are dependent on their incoming crops to meet payments, accepted drafts on reliable Commission Houses, at short time, will be received in payment of charges due in October.

Interest charged on payments delayed.

The daughters of Baptist Ministers are admitted to all the advantages of the Literary Department, free of charge for Tuition.

The proprietors of the Institution are enabled to make their charges thus moderate, by the fact that the ample facilities in their possession have been furnished largely at the public expense and regarding themselves merely as the guardians of a great public interest, they deem it their duty, as it is their pleasure, to extend the advantages of education to the largest number possible.

Remarks.

To those parents, who seek mainly the opportunities for successful study, in sending their daughters from home, this Institution offers some important advantages.

Located in a quiet village, two hours' ride from the nearest Rail Road Station, it is rarely visited by Circuses, Minstrel Troupes, Traveling Lecturers and other profitless annoyances, which are a growing nuisance on public highways and at their converging centres.

The school consists almost entirely of boarding pupils. Classes are not therefore retarded by absence, on account of inclement weather, as is necessarily the case, where there is a large admixture of day pupils.

Only experienced teachers are employed; and these are furnished with full employment, thus securing their undivided interest and energy in their duties.

The President himself presides in the room occupied for study by the advanced classes; he keeps before him a schedule of the whole school, showing the duty assigned to each pupil, and frequently passes through the building to see that all are at their places.

Under these circumstances, it is evident that as much successful study is accomplished as is consistent with the capacity and diligence of pupils.

Directions.

For Reaching Murfreesboro'.

Those coming by Seaboard and Roanoke Rail Road will find Hacks at Boykin's Depot, on arrival of trains from Weldon and from Portsmouth.

A steamer runs from Franklin, Va., to Murfreesboro' two or three times a week, but at present the days are not fixed.

For Sending Money.

Money should be sent by Draft, Check, Registered Letter, or Post Office Order. Post Office Orders should be made payable in Norfolk or Baltimore.

For Addressing Letters.

As there are two large Female Schools in Murfreesboro', Chowan Baptist Female Institute and Wesleyan Female College, letters to young ladies at the former should be addressed,
